INTEREST IN ESTATE USED FOR EDUCATION

Interest annually from the sum of $112,181.32 bequeathed in the will of Emma Myers Duttera, late of Littlestown, provided advanced education for "deserving poor students" of the Hoffman Home for Children, Littlestown R. D., and the Tressler Orphans Home of Loysville, according to the estate account approved by the Adams County court Monday.

The bequest, listed in the account of the Littlestown National Bank and Arthur E. Bair, executor of the estate of Emma Myers Duttera, is to be held as a trust fund by the Littlestown National bank. The income from the amount will be divided equally between the two orphanages "to be used to assist deserving poor students or former poor pupils to obtain better educational advantages than the two institutions themselves provide." Selection of the boys to receive the grants and the schools they are to attend is left to the discretion of the two institutions.

The Duttera will also provide $300 to be placed in trust with the Littlestown National with proceeds to go to the Mt. Carmel Cemetery Association. The schedule of distribution approved by the court showed $120,062.32 for distribution.

OTHER ACCOUNTS

A number of the other accounts and schedules for distribution approved by the court Monday showed sums for public bequests.

The account of the Gettysburg National Bank as executor of the estate of C. Irvin Blair, late of Menallen Twp., shows $23,509.22 for distribution. Among bequests was $1,000 for the Benders Church Cemetery Association, $1,000 to (Continued On Page 6)

Adenauer Jeered By Reds While On Tour Of Border

By JOHN FIEHN
BERLIN (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer toured the barricades between East and West Berlin on a morale-boosting visit today and was met with jeers from the Communist side.

The jeering at one point was led by Gerhard Eisler, top East German propagandist who jumped bail in the United States and fled to East Germany.

"There's only one way out, Konny," Eisler shouted at Adenauer across the barbed wire at Potsdamer Platz, once a major crossing point. "You'll have to deal with us."

The 85-year-old chancellor, impassive as an Indian chief, ignored Eisler and all the other Communist hecklers.

At other points, Communists from East Berlin jeered him from the wall they have built to divide the two parts of the city.

Communist loudspeaker trucks turned up at the Brandenburg Gate, once the chief crossing point, and blared at Adenauer. "We acted but you did nothing," they said.

The Communists made so much noise that nothing the chancellor

"REC" BOARD GIVEN REPORT FOR SUMMER

The Gettysburg Recreation Board, at its monthly meeting Monday evening in the "rec" office at the high school, discussed matters pertaining to the summer program, the budget, and the picnic pavilion on the main playground.

Discussion about the pavilion came up when it was learned that two church groups in the community had asked for the same areas on the field on the same day to hold a picnic outing. One group had to postpone its affair for a month, it was learned.

The board decided that next year, a central agency will be set up whereby groups who wish to reserve the pavilion may do so on a first come, first served, basis. Since the picnic season is nearly over, the board put off until next spring any final decision about pavilion reservations.

REPORTS ON SUMMER

General discussion about the budget was primarily to see if the board was keeping within the limits of the budget. President Kenneth E. Dengler, who was in charge of the session, said that "we're in pretty good shape" as far as monetary matters were concerned. He noted that the new rest rooms on the main "rec" field must yet be built out of this fiscal year's funds. Dengler added that the rest room construction (Continued On Page 3)

EISENHOWER PRESENTED RARE BIBLE

A beautifully bound Bible, autographed by Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, was presented to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in his offices on Carlisle St. shortly before 10 o'clock this morning. The presentation was made by His Excellency, Berhanou Dinke, the Ethiopian ambassador to the United States.

The Bible is a translation of the Greek and Latin into Ethiopian. Accompanying the ambassador was his daughter, Thedela, 14; an embassy aide, Syun Goche, and Isaac Kifle, an assistant to Senator Williams of New Jersey.

The former President and Ambassador Dinke conferred for about 15 minutes and then at the request of photographers posed for pictures.

PRESENTED PEACHES

Among other visitors to General Eisenhower this morning was a delegation from the Adams County chapter of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association headed by John R. Pitzer, Aspers, president, who named him an honorary member of the association.

Pitzer was accompanied by four associates and they visited with Mr. Eisenhower for about a half hour during which time they presented the general with two baskets of red-ripe Adams County peaches. They were also photographed with the former President.

General Eisenhower's office released the following statement after the session:

"I have always believed in the basic Pennsylvania Farmers' Association policies of freedom and dignity of the individual and unlimited opportunity to produce and sell in a free market. The fundamental basis for farm prosperity includes factors outside of agriculture which affect the farmer's cost of operation, availability of free competitive markets for his products, his freedom and opportunity to make the best possible use of his individual resources and the real value of his income dollar."

GRAND JURORS INDICT 8 MORE DEFENDANTS; 14 TO BE TRIED

The August Grand Jury handed up eight indictments Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock to conclude its work for the term.

As a result of the grand jury action and an arraignment of defendants held Monday afternoon by the court, it was determined that there will be 14 cases for the petit jury to try when it convenes next Monday. Attorney Ronald Hagerman served as district attorney for the arraignment while District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter was busy with the grand jury.

The grand jury did not make a tour of the county property because of the lateness of the hour, but Robert DeGroot, Littlestown, one of the grand jurors, asked permission to speak to the court and suggested it urge the county commissioners to install a loud speaker system in the court room.

SOME PLEAS CHANGED

Indicted were Theodore Shull, Gettysburg R. 4, charged with taking part in a speed contest; David J. Kaiser, Littlestown R. D., morals charge; John Thomas Hampton, Aspers R. 1, aggravated assault and battery and robbery; Edmund C. Burkins, York, driving while under the influence; Richard E. D. Myers and Luther Dupler, both of Hanover, two morals charges and Dupler alone, one morals charge, and Lawrence E. Hill, 225 W. High St., morals charge. Hill had been charged with failing to support children and the morals charge, but the grand jury found "not a true bill" in respect to the support charge.

At the arraignment most of the pleas were continued as previously noted in the trial list. Among changes from the list, George H. Adams, Gettysburg R. 3, charged with assault and battery, entered a plea of "no defense." Pleas of guilty were entered by John W. Young, Jr., and Amelia A. Livelsberger, East Berlin, on one bookmaking charge while it was announced that another similar charge would be dropped. A plea of "no defense" was entered by Richard E. Black, 43 Chambersburg St., on a charge (Continued On Page 2)

COURT TURNS DOWN REQUEST FOR DIVORCE

The Adams County court, in an opinion handed down today dismissed the action in divorce brought by Robert L. Arter, Camp Dix, N. J., against Bertha E. Arter, Littlestown.

Arter had asked the divorce on grounds of desertion claiming his wife failed to follow him to Fort Hood, Texas, when he was stationed there by the army in 1958.

The court held that "it is well established that a husband has the right to change his home if his business, comfort, or convenience require it, and, if he provides a suitable place of residence to which his wife refuses without legal excuse to follow him, her refusal constitutes desertion."

GROUND NOT PROVEN

Then the court added: "The difficulty here is that the wife denies that she refused to follow her husband and there is no evidence to the contrary."

In his complaint, Arter claimed that when he went to Fort Hood he arranged for a place for his wife to reside in Littlestown until he could find a suitable place in Texas. During the latter part of January, 1958, he rented a house at Temple, Texas. He said he wrote to his wife at that time and told her to come there. He heard nothing and wrote her again in March and again received no reply. He said he then abandoned the house. Later he started divorce proceedings in Texas and then was transferred to Colorado and then to Korea. When he returned to Texas in May, 1960, he said he was told that he had been away too long and would have to start the divorce proceedings over again.

On the other hand, according to the court opinion, Mrs. Arter says she wrote her husband weekly for six months after he left, and sent the letter to Fort Hood, not knowing what company he was with. She added she never received any word from him, nor did his parents have any word of his whereabouts. She added that had she received word she "would have been glad to go to Texas," according to the court order.

"MOST UNUSUAL"

The court held that "the plaintiff's actions . . . are most unusual." After having rented the house in late January and having written his wife to come to Texas and having received no reply from her, he waited over a month before writing again and then before the end of March concluded she was not coming and gave up the house. All of this without any effort whatsoever to determine whether she had received his letters or what the trouble was. His wife was in the same town as his parents and his sister and it would have been a simple matter to have checked with them. For all he knew she might have been in the hospital or in such condition that she could not answer his letters.

"His divorce action in Texas itself is peculiar. It was instituted on December 1, 1958, when he had been in Texas less than eleven months. As we understand the law of Texas, a plaintiff in a divorce action must have been a bona fide inhabitant of the state for twelve months and residing in the county for six months before filing a divorce action. . . The plaintiff was then not eligible to institute a divorce action. Furthermore he states he started the action on the ground of desertion which could only have existed since January 10, 1958. Under the law of Texas a husband may secure a divorce where a wife has voluntarily left his bed and board for three years with the intention of abandonment. . . The plaintiff could not establish grounds for divorce in Texas."

In the current case the court held Arter had not proven his contention of desertion and thus dismissed the complaint.

THIEF ALTERS FAMILY PLANS

William Moose, Gettysburg R. 2, reported to state police today why he and his family failed to get to Sunday morning services at St. James Lutheran Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Moose, their daughter and three grandchildren clambered into the family car Sunday morning to come to Gettysburg for church services. The car refused to start. The motor was "dead" and when Mr. Moose lifted the hood to investigate he found out why. The car's battery had been stolen during the night while the machine was parked in a garage near the house.

The family didn't get to church but were able to borrow a car later in the day for an errand.

Monday morning Mr. Moose drove to Gettysburg on his tractor and bought a new battery for the car. When he got out of the tractor he found indications that the thief or thieves had also tried to remove the tractor battery also — but without success.

Mr. Moose estimated the car battery was worth $15 to $20.

The Moose family live along the Emmitsburg Rd. about a mile and a half from Gettysburg.

Lawver, Hanover police reported, was traveling east on Broadway when he attempted a right turn into Keagy Avenue. His auto skidded to the left side of Broadway, struck a utility pole and a tree, struck the parked car and did considerable damage to property at the home of Willis S. Boyer, 1228 Broadway.

Police said estimated damage was $800 to the Lawver vehicle, $500 to the parked auto owned by Donald R. Shuff, 1222 Broadway, and about $1,270 property damage including the tree and utility pole. Lawver was unhurt.

Information on the charge was filed before Justice of the Peace Dayne E. Garrett.

"LOOK AHEAD"

It has been said quite frequently . . . we live from day to day . . . this may be so but I believe . . . that plans should pave the way . . . without some careful forethought . . . we will stumble in . . . pitfalls which are preludes . . . to what might have been . . . I'm well aware that best laid plans . . . sometimes go amiss . . . but for the most part those who plan . . . avoid failure's abyss . . . good things don't just happen . . . it takes plans and work . . . good things seldom happen . . . to the folks who shirk . . . so if you wish to face the future . . . with little to dread . . . follow the advice I give . . . strive to look ahead.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Communist party paper Pravda Monday printed a Berlin dispatch declaring U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's mission to the divided city was intended to "beat up the already tense situation in West Berlin."

The writer, correspondent Vladimir Kuznetsov, said it seems West Berlin—not East Berlin—has become "a military police camp."

Sam Snead was listed at 8 to 1 in the Tournament of Champions, an event in which he picked up $10,000 by winning this spring.

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., — Jesse Davidson, the transplanted Kentuckian, rode the first consecutive triple in Shenandoah Downs three year history Monday night. The performance, coming on the sixth, seventh and eighth races, boosted his total to 34 for the 32 nights Shenandoah has run.

Davidson scored on Mr. Settle, at 4:40; Proof Girl at 7:00; and Shimmy Queen at 8:40. The crowd of 4,872 bet Lucko Th' Irish down to 3-1 as they anticipated a fourth straight for the 20-year-old sensation, but the son of Shannon Second, did not have it in the mud. Clarence C. Smith, striving hard to head off a runaway by Davidson, kept his chances alive with a win aboard Savenom in the fourth to make his total 20. The next closest rider is apprentice Cliff Riston with 11.

J. Frank Abell's recent claim, Carrie Lee, heads a field of six sprinters in tonight's Starlight Terrace purse, Abony Lark, Ballingarry, and Agger, all first time starters at the meeting, and Night Code and Mardandherst complete the field.

Is Killed When Auto Hits Tree

DuBOIS, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Eva McGee, 62, of nearby McGees Mills was killed and five other persons injured Monday in the crash of their auto against a tree in this Clearfield County town.

Hospitalized were Robert Shuss, 12; his brother, William, 7; sisters, Kathy, 11, and Betsy, 10, all of Mahaffey; and Lucille McGee, the dead woman's sister-in-law. Police said the car apparently went out of control and hit the tree.

Big Day Of The Year At Pen

Mar: Big preparations are being made for the celebration of the 36th anniversary of the opening of Pen Mar on Thursday August 31. Prof. John C. Bohl, the popular leader of the Pen Mar orchestra is arranging an especially fine program for the day and there will be many special features. Special trains will be run from all points. Prizes to the value of $300 will be awarded as follows:

For handsomest baby, solid gold locket; largest baby, set of baby's gold pins; handsomest twins, two solid gold rings; best dressed lady, 35 piece Dresden china set; handsomest lady, Oriole game set, 7 pieces; best lady dancer, beautiful case; best gentleman dancer, military brush set, 7 pieces; best dressed gentleman, fine silk umbrella.

Chautauqua Campaign Now On:

The Directors of the Chautauqua have started a movement to insure the meeting of the Educational Institute for next year. At the session on Monday evening it was decided to make a whirlwind campaign lasting until the closing session Saturday night.

In order to place the movement on a better financial basis and secure the promoters against any direct monetary loss, it was decided to begin a canvass for the sale of 500 tickets, for the next year. The money is not asked for at this time, simply the pledge of the party receiving the tickets that he will make a determined effort to sell the tickets. Within two hours after the announcement was made, the management reported 275 tickets pledged.

Adams County Teachers Meet:

The annual meeting of teachers of the Adams County Public School will be held on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in Brum Memorial Chapel. The meeting of Teachers in similar to a Summer Institute and in past years has been well attended. It is the purpose of the superintendent to have everything in readiness for the beginning of the school year. Many times on the opening of school, new teachers are confronted with unfamiliar conditions and greatly embarrassed because they are not able to handle the problem satisfactorily.

The summer meeting is to remedy these defects and impress upon the teachers the vital importance of having a well organized school from the beginning. Dr. Edwin E. Sparks, President of Pennsylvania State College, has been secured to deliver the final instructions to the assembly.

Catholic Picnic Draws Many:

Regardless of a good bill at the counter attraction, the Chautauqua, hundreds of town people attended the Catholic picnic at Round Top, Tuesday. The weather during the entire day was ideal and the desire to be out doors proved strong. Many who could not leave their employment during the day hurried there last evening.

Rosensteel's pavilion was engaged and two meals, dinner and supper were served there. The Gettysburg Orchestra furnished

Today's Talk

THE KIND THING

A friend of mine, in talking of the loss of a cherished friend, remarked that "he was always trying to do the kind thing."

I knew this to be true for the gentleman was my friend too; and I never knew anyone more kind or considerate more gentle, or who thought of others so much and often.

It seems to me that what our present-day world needs more than anything else is for every one, and every nation, to try and do the right and kind thing. Surely nothing so inspires one as this.

There's so much coldness, so much grasping, so much lack of consideration, that if people would only just stop and think it all over and then open their hearts wide and try to do and act the kind thing, what a difference it would make!

What a beautiful world we have when we try to be kind and make other folks happy!

Kindness doesn't cost anything but a desire in the heart and simple efforts. But it makes the sun in the world a hundred times more brilliant.

We take better heart when someone has been kind to us. We throw our shoulders back and say that the fight is well worthwhile and that life is good. Try to do the kind thing — always.

There is no thrill in the world like that which comes of a kind thought or unusual act. The great living man is always the one who goes around simply—trying to do the kind thing as many times as possible in a day.

music for the dancers. Dancing began during the afternoon and the floor was never vacant until late at night. The crowds were so great in the evening that couples waited their turn to get on the floor. Trolley service was much better than usual and no accidents occurred to mar the day's pleasure. Tired but happy families returning home voted the affair the best of the annual picnics held for many years.

Gettysburg Gets Postal Bank: Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock has designated Gettysburg as one of the new postal savings bank stations. Notice received at the postoffice Wednesday names September 22nd as the date for opening the bank. Instructions from the Postmaster General state that "The postal savings work should be placed in charge of a competent employee, preferably one who has had executive experience in one of the financial divisions of your post office. All employees who will be assigned to the postal savings work should at once be required to obtain a thorough knowledge of the provisions of the regulations and instructions and of the forms to be used."

A LONGED-FOR JOY

I do not envy millionaires
The many things that they can do;
Though endless bank accounts are theirs,
And mine last week I overdraw,
I do not sit around and sigh
And wall in sorrow's gloomy way
That they have things I cannot buy—
I don't want all their joys today.
I would not look on life as grim
Because I own no gilt-edged stocks;
But I confess, I envy him
Who buys his golf balls by the box.

A new ball, smooth and shining white
To me's a ninety-five cent treat;
When I indulge in such delight
I must cut down on what I eat.
And only now and then I dare
To put a new ball into play;
But he who is a millionaire
May start a fresh one every day.
I'd be a monarch, crowned and throned,
And count myself secure from shocks
If ever coin enough I owned
To buy my golf balls by the box.

Hassan II pledged Sunday to restore Morocco's "historical unity" and gather to the country "all its children in the north and in the south."

Hassan did not specify the territories he wants Morocco to control but presumably he meant Mauritania, recently given independence by France; the Spanish colonies of Rio de Oro (the Spanish Sahara) and Ifni and part of the southwestern Sahara.

CENSORS HAVE REAL PROBLEM IN TV CUTTING

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Heaven help us if television happened to have had an airplane hijacking just before the real ones started," said Robert Wood. "We would probably have been blamed for them."

Wood, manager of broadcast standards for the National Broadcasting Company here, is, by profession, the man-in-the-middle. His duties are not only preventing tasteless, outrageous scenes from turning up in television shows, but to handle complaints and protests from people and groups who feel they have been mistreated in the medium.

Wood and his opposite numbers at CBS and ABC function as censors, administering policies set at top executive levels. A current concern is reducing violence in programs. He also must cope with an endless stream of complaints about real or fancied TV wrongs.

GETS MANY COMPLAINTS

Dental groups howl when a TV character expresses dread of the dentist's chair or is shown, in comedies, writhing in pain and terror. Bankers and securities dealers don't like it when one is depicted as a crook or embezzler. Milliners' organizations are upset when a bareheaded heroine remarks that "they aren't wearing hats this season." Librarians' organizations write bitter little notes about the stereotype of the librarian as elderly, mousy and spinsterish.

Plumbers write in, furious, when a forgotten-tools joke turns up, and a florists' association took instant umbrage when a TV family was making arrangements for a funeral and asked friends to "please omit flowers."

MORE EXAMPLES

The wine industry became upset when it was implied that mustel was the beverage most favored by broken-down alcoholics, and a company manufacturing prefabricated homes was most irate when one show centered around a fast-buck salesman who sold you-know-what.

Wood not long ago received a long, wry letter from an association of warehouse owners. They asked if it could be arranged, just once, to show that warehouses were often used to store things, not just for fights and chases between rows of boxes.

Short of kitchen equipment? A double boiler can double as saucepans. No double boiler? You can improvise one by using a mixing bowl in a skillet of water.

This Fish Story Killed Fisherman

SOMERS POINT, N.J. (AP)—A man choked to death Monday when a fish he caught lankied in his mouth as he swung it in triumph, police said.

George C. Shaffer, 30, of Gloucester City, was dead on arrival at Shore Memorial Hospital. The hospital said death was from strangulation.

Shaffer was fishing from a row-boat in Great Egg Harbor Bay with friends. They told police that Shaffer caught a small black bass and swung it around his head with joy. The fish landed in Shaffer's mouth and couldn't be dislodged.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — About four tons of printed, recorded and filmed Castro propaganda passed through Mexico City airport Monday on its way to Cuban diplomatic and consular missions in Latin America. Custom authorities said the material arrived on a Cubana flight for transshipment to Rio de Janeiro, Quito, Santiago, Montevideo, Buenos Aires and La Paz.

Reds To Meet Dodgers And Giants In 8-Game Showdown Series; Yanks Play At LA

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
A Herculean eight-game program over a six-day stretch is the next test for the Cincinnati Reds, leading the National League by three games after a hectic period of playing ring-around-a-rosie for first place with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Reds, who had fallen 2½ games back last week in their season-long battle with the Dodgers for the top rung, begin their crucial period at home tonight with a doubleheader against the third-place San Francisco Giants.

The sizzling Giants, who have won 10 of their last 12, will stay at Crosley Field for games Wednesday and Thursday, then the Dodgers will move in for a showdown four-game set in the final meeting of the year between the pennant contenders.

CONTINUE ASSAULT

Meanwhile, Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle will continue their assault on Babe Ruth's home run record of 60 in 1927 as the American League leading New York Yankees invade Los Angeles for a three-game set with the Angels.

The Yankees lead the second-place Detroit Tigers by three games and the Baltimore Orioles by 11. The Orioles' game at Washington Monday — the only one scheduled in the majors — was postponed because of wet grounds.

Reds' Manager Fred Hutchinson admits the string of games with the Giants and Dodgers will pose a pitching problem and he may have to throw in rookie Ken Hunt and-or score-shouldered Jim Maloney. "I'll have to put someone in some place," moaned Hutchinson.

DODGERS AND CARDS

The regular rotation recently has consisted of Joey Jay, Bob Purkey, Jim O'Toole and Ken Johnson. Purkey (14-7) and Johnson (4-1) figure to go tonight against the Giants' Mike McCormick (9-12) and either Sam Jones (7-7) or Billy O'Dell (4-4).

The Dodgers, who lost seven straight and tumbled to second while the Reds were taking six of seven, meet the St. Louis Cardinals before going on to Cincinnati, with rumors beginning to circulate that Walter Alston's job is in jeopardy.

Club owner Walter O'Malley denied that Monday, however, saying: "Alston doesn't need a vote of confidence. But maybe the team does. If so, here it is. A big personal vote for the Dodgers, who are tied for first place in the loss column."

EYES ON HOMERS

The Reds, who have played and won six more games than Los Angeles, have the same number of losses as the Dodgers, 47. The Yankees, three games up on the Tigers in both columns, will send Bill Stafford (10-6) against the Angels' Ken McBride (9-10) tonight.

Despite the close pennant races most eyes will be riveted to Maris and Mantle, who have hit 49 and 46 homers, respectively. Maris is 10 games ahead of Ruth's pace and Mantle is eight games in front with the Angels' Wrigley Field presenting a friendly target.

The major league mark for most home runs at one park in a single season is within reach at tightly boxed Wrigley Field where 177 homers have been hit, and 25 games still remain to be played. The record is 219 at Cincinnati in 1957.

Little League Play Gets Going Today

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — There was shrill chatter on the baseball diamond today as Little League players from eight teams prepared for their World Series eliminations.

Batting practice was scheduled for each club as defending champion Levittown, Pa., got ready to take the field against El Cajon, Calif., Western regional winner. Montreal, the Canadian champion, meets Hilo, Hawaii, Pacific regional winner, in the only other game today.

The competition ends Saturday when the two semifinalists meet for the championship.

TRAPSHOOT IS IN 2ND DAY OF CHAMPIONSHIP

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer
VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — The ordinary fellows who miss a target now and then got their chance today as the 62nd Grand American Trapshoot moved into its second championship round.

Usually a handful of experts dominate the 16-yard firing in this world series of the clay target sport, but today's program called for class championships in which each marksman fires against those of similar ability.

The 200-target race is divided into five classes, each fixed by the averages on registered targets, and a champion is named in each.

HALTED BY DARKNESS

The big barrage got under way Monday but a couple of the more important events were left unfinished as darkness halted shoot-offs.

Eight state champions tied at 100 each in the Champion of champions race and three were still in the running after breaking an extra 100.

Still firing for that crown were Ohmer W. Webb Sr., a Washington, D.C., left-hander; Dan Orlich of Reno, Nev., former professional football player; and George Snellenberger of Angola, Ind.

Snellenberger's mother died while he was on the firing line and he was not expected back for today's shootoff.

JUNIOR SHOOTOFF

George Burrus, 18-year-old Fort Collins, Colo., captain of the Sports Afield Junior All-America trapshoot team, and 13-year-old Britt Robinson of Tahoka, Tex., also were tangled in a shootoff for the junior champ of champions title. Each broke 100 straight in the regular event and 100 more in the shootoff, which continued today.

Mary Christopher of Cornwell Heights, Pa., defeated Mrs. Julie Deckert of Milwaukee 25-24 for the women's title after they had tied at 93 of 100. Mrs. Deckert missed her 100th target to allow Miss Christopher to tie.

In the 200-target, 16-yard introductory, which attracted 679 entrants, Tony Biaga, 44, a Highland Park, Ill., restaurant operator who stands 5-foot-3 and weighs 260, was the ultimate winner. He broke 50 straight in a shootoff to triumph after he had tied at 200 straight with J. Robert Boyd of LeMars, Iowa; C.E. Barnhart of Kansas City, Mo.; and William T. Harrison of Los Angeles.

FETE SPAHN AT FENWAY PARK

BOSTON (AP) — Nineteen years ago Warren Spahn began a storybook major league pitching career in Boston.

The 40-year-old Milwaukee southpaw had a tumultuous "homecoming" at Fenway Park Monday night as the Braves defeated the Red Sox 4-1 in an exhibition game.

The contest, for the benefit of children's cancer research, was played in fog and drizzle but nothing marred the series of standing ovations Spahn received. True to his promise to the stricken children, Spahn pitched a perfect inning as the Braves' starter though he had gone the full nine frames Sunday extending his remarkable record to 302 victories.

Spahn had said he would pitch "if I can lift my arm." He struck out two and retired defending American League batting champion Pete Runnels on a grounder.

Spahn broke in with the old Boston Braves just a mile down the road from Fenway Park on April 19, 1942.

CAGE PLAYERS SPONSOR TILT TO HELP STOKES

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — The best in professional basketball tonight will help Jack Twyman keep another pledge to ailing Maurice Stokes.

Bob Cousy, Bill Russell, Wilt Chamberlain, Dolph Schayes, Bob Pettit and many more will compete on a concrete, outdoor court in a Stokes benefit game. Its aim is to help raise money for continuing treatment of Stokes, former Cincinnati Royals star who was paralyzed with encephalitis — a brain ailment — 3½ years ago and still cannot walk.

Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics will coach the Eastern team and Paul Seymour of the St. Louis Hawks the West in the All-Star game, which was washed out Monday night by an all-day rain in the Catskills.

BEEN A BED PATIENT

The coaches and the players, who paid their way here for the privilege of helping, figure it's the least they can do for the 6-7, one-time 250-pounder who by now probably would have been ranked as one of the greats of basketball.

Since he was stricken in the 1957-58 National Basketball Association season, Stokes has been a patient at Christ Hospital in Cincinnati.

Teammate Twyman, one of the top NBA scorers, has been his legal guardian and has masterminded the financial flow that gives him the medical help he needs. This year, a benefit show in Stokes' hometown of Pittsburgh flopped.

"We need the money from this game more than ever," Twyman said.

"Let the people know they can mail contributions to Stokes at the hospital. The doctors hope he may walk some day. When he recovers his reflexes will be slower. But he has determination."

In the last 40 months, Stokes has come a long way. First, to learn again to move his hands. Then to speak. He occasionally is out of bed, but in a wheelchair.

Maurice, who starred at St. Francis (Pa.) before joining the Royals, had hoped to make the trip here but doctors wouldn't permit it.

2019 Compete In Amateur Golf Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven past champions, including 1960 winner Deane Beman of Arlington, Va., head a record entry list of 2,019 for the National Amateur Golf Championship to be played at Pebble Beach, Calif., Sept. 11-16.

The entry list, announced Monday night by the U.S. Golf Association, will be trimmed to 200 for the tournament proper during 36-hole qualifying tests at 37 sectional sites Aug. 28, 29 and 31.

The seven former champs plus 21 others will be exempt from qualifying on the basis of their past records.

Sikes Holds Slim Lead In Tourney

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Play resumes today in the 36-hole qualifying test for the 58th men's Trans-Mississippi Golf Association Championship with Arkansas golfer R. H. Sikes holding a one-stroke lead through Monday's initial 18 holes.

Sikes, the National Public Links titleholder from the University of Arkansas had a 5-under-par 33-33 — 66 in the opening round to edge Glen Fowler of the host Twin Hills Country Club course who shot a 34-33-67.

Two strokes back of Fowler was Jim Wright, Enid, Okla., with a 34-35-69.

Oldster, Youngster Win In Amateur Golf

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — From Roberta Albers of Tacoma, Fla., to Mrs. Henry Hulscher of Tacoma is high on 30 years.

But the golf match between the teen-ager and the grandmother was expected to pull a big gallery today in the USGA Women's Amateur Championships.

Fourteen-year-old Roberta joined defending champion Joanne Gunderson of Seattle and several former champions in the winners' circle Monday as the field of 102 was cut to 76 in the first round of match play. There were 62 byes, one going to Mrs. Hulscher.

While Joanne was handing a 5 and 4 defeat to Kathryn Farrer of Decatur, Ala., Roberta was doing the same to Patricia Dwyer of Portland, Ore.

DENIES TRACK GROUP LINKED TO GANGSTERS

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Anthracite Raceway Association was on record today, emphatically denying implications that some of its stockholders and directors may be linked with the underworld.

Theodore Lupitka of Hazleton, counsel for the association, rejected the possibility Monday at a hearing before the State Harness Racing Commission.

Gangland influences are "not in any way connected with this track," Lupitka declared.

The implications originated last week with a number of anonymous letters sent to members of the commission attempting to attach the anthracite group with gangster elements.

BIDDING FOR LICENSE

At Monday's hearing, Ken Duffy, stockholder and general counsel for the Pocono Raceway organization, testified that he was the one who had sent the anonymous letters.

Both the anthracite group and the Pocono organization are bidding for a license to build and operate a trotting track with pari-mutuel betting in the anthracite coal region of Luzerne County.

Duffy told the commission his mailing of the unsigned letters "might have been an error of judgment, but the purpose I intended was accomplished."

Contained in the letters were newspaper clippings on the calling of the late Palmer Corraele before a Buffalo, N.Y., grand jury in 1958 in connection with the well-publicized gangland meetings at Appalachian, N.Y.

CORRAELE IS DECEASED

The letters noted that Corraele was the brother and business partner of Fred Corraele, president of the anthracite group.

"Palmer Corraele is not in any way connected with this race track," he is deceased," Lupitka stated.

Fred Corraele attended the hearing but did not testify.

Later, Victor Diehm of Scranton, director of the Anthracite group and owner of a number of radio stations, testified that his organization proposed to build a track "very, very close" to the Penn-Can Highway by 1963.

He estimated the site would be about a quarter mile from the intersection of interstate routes 80 and 81, the Keystone Shortway and Penn-Can Highway, respectively. The project would consist of 600 acres and cost about $4.5 million.

Pocono's proposed site would be a 540-acre tract of land near the Pennsylvania Turnpike's northeast extension. Duffy told the commission that promoters of the organization are ready to put up $3 million for a track and obtain another $4 million by subscription.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Springfield Giants, first in the Eastern League, needed 11 innings Monday night to pin an 8-4 loss on fifth-place Johnstown.

The Giants pushed over four runs at the top of the 11th, two of them on triples by Felix Maldonado and Koko Laboy.

Ken Bracey (10-5), who faced only 10 batters in his three-inning on the mound, was credited with the win. The loser was Wilbur Wood (3-4).

The victory moved the Giants' lead to 10 games, with Williamsport and Binghamton tied for second. Fourteen games remain to be played.

In the only other EL game, Lancaster beat Williamsport 7-4. The Reading-Binghamton game was postponed because of rain.

A grand slam home run by Tom Schwaner and a solo homer by Clem Moore helped account for Lancaster's win.

Reds, Tigers Ahead Of '60 Attendance

NEW YORK (AP) — Surprisingly good showings in the baseball pennant races by the Detroit Tigers and Cincinnati Reds have boosted their home attendances this season. Both have already surpassed their 1960 totals.

The Tigers have played before 1,340,930 customers and the Reds to 762,520. Last season, Detroit's total was 1,167,669 and Cincinnati's 663,486.

Through Sunday's games, the Tigers showed an increase of 235,000 and the Reds were up 245,000. All of the other teams were under last year's figures. Those showing the largest deficits were the Chicago White Sox (441,000), Los Angeles Dodgers (410,000), San Francisco (313,000), Pittsburgh (320,000) and Milwaukee (314,000).

The major leagues drew 1,076,166 paid last week, lifting the 1961 total to 15,013,116—seven per cent under last year.

Forgotten Is Clarence Cravath, Who Set Mark For Babe Ruth To Break

By JOHN BIBB

The Nashville Tennessean
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — At the moment baseball's forgotten man is Clifford Clarence (Gavvy, Wooden Shoes, Cactus) Cravath.

It was Cravath's home run record of 24 which Babe Ruth broke when he hit 29 in 1919. Cravath, an outfielder for the Philadelphia Nationals, led the league in home runs five times, and this in the era of the dead ball and marvelous pitchers. His major league record came in 1915 when the Phillies won the pennant and lost to Boston in the World Series.

Cravath, a rumbling, rotund 200-plus heavyweight, picked up nicknames by the dozen, but in view of the later homer heroics by Ruth, Cactus and his two dozen blasts faded into the mass of baseball's honored statistics.

Almost faded, that is.

One fellow remembers Cravath, ever so vividly. He's our own Gallatin (Tenn.) squash, Hub Perdue, a pitching star for the Boston Braves while Gavvy was the league's home run leader.

"Remember Cravath?" chuckled Perdue, when we asked about the oldtime Philly ace. "Sure I do. He couldn't hit a curve ball. But brother you'd better watch where you put that fast one when he was up there. If you weren't awfully careful, he'd lose it for you.

"I remember a lot of things about Cravath. One thing I'll never forget is the size of his bat.

"It was as big as a fence post, but when he swung it, it swished like a fly rod!"

It seems curious that a man with the colorful nicknames associated with Cravath could have wilted from baseball lore, despite the glare of Ruth's home run barrage.

"Well, Gavvy didn't have a lot to say. You might look at it this way. He let that bat do his talking. Of course, the nicknames were tagged by various people. He had enormous feet and was pretty slow. That's where 'Wooden Shoes' came from."

The "Gavvy" apparently is from his correct name—Gravatt. Why he changed it to Cravath is just about anybody's guess. But, by whatever name he chose, Cactus was the National League home leader in 1913 (19), 1914 (19), 1915 (24), 1918 (8), and 1919 (12).

In the midst of his record of 24 homers in '95, the right-hand hitting Cravath tied a major league mark by socking four consecutive doubles in one game. He left the majors in 1920 after serving as Philly manager for half of the '19 campaign and all of 1920.

Riding with Russell

by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL

One trouble with safety is that so many drivers are dying to see how fast their cars will go.

While it is true that gas mileage is secondary to some of the other expenses in the operation of a car, the fact remains that it serves as a handy guise to the car's efficiency and the skill with which it is driven. That's why it pays to get a line on what results others are obtaining who drive the same make and model car.

If there is no improvement in mileage when the car is treated to some semi-country driving the evidence is that service is needed. This will be true whether the car normally does 10 miles to the gallon or 20. There may not be marked improvement when the car is operated on a super-highway because here high speed will often offset the absence of starts and stops. Here, however, there is opportunity for savings through more skillful driving. Allowed to roll at its easiest speed, the car may show real mileage improvement, and if better driving does not produce this result the indications are the engine is not tuned for higher speed operation.

Gas mileage is the real key to car efficiency. Poor results may be warning that brakes drag, tires are underinflated, the choke fails to open fully, the exhaust manifold heat control valve sticks or that front wheels may not be in correct alignment so that front tires drag.

HAS REVERSE EFFECT

You'd think that if the short flexible fuel line (the one that runs from the main line to the pump) leaks air there would be an improvement in gas mileage, especially in hot weather. Actually, it doesn't work out this way because the air bubbles tend to increase vaporization. There may also be a sort of "running vapor lock" which destroys power and may bring on a series of stalls. There's always a lot of fuel waste when trying to restart an engine that stalls because of fuel trouble.

Every now and again someone comes forward with a performance meter. I have used one on my car for years. It provides excellent evaluation of braking efficiency.

tire adhesion on wet roads, brake fade, etc. The latest one comes from England but can be purchased on this side of the Atlantic.

The dial is calibrated in percentage of "G" (acceleration or deceleration at the rate of 32.2 ft.-sec.-sec. No mechanical or electrical hook-up is required, the meter being self-contained.

I find mine most useful in helping me keep to the most economical road speed. Here the point stays straight up without swinging one way or the other.

MECHANIC JOE SPEAKING:

"Those manifold heat control valves are troublesome enough without encouraging them to stick. This means resisting the temptation to use oil on them because this merely tends to gum things up. Use a penetrating lubricant, and tap the end of the valve's shaft lightly to help free it. If one of these valves is on an angle the shaft is more likely to bind. That calls for more frequent attention."

WHAT'S YOUR TROUBLE?

Q. The brake pedal on my car feels springy. It hasn't that solid feeling as before. Car does not have power brakes. K. T.

A. First check for air in the fluid by having the brakes bled and refilled with approved fluid.

Q. I recently had a friend push my car in order to try to start the engine. Put the selector lever in Drive and got up to a speed of 25 miles an hour but the engine did not turn over. Wm. L. P.

A. There are leaks in the hydraulic system of the transmission.

Q. My car pulls to one side even when the brakes are not being applied. There is no brake drag. Front tire pressures are equal. Front springs keep the car at the right height. B. L.

A. The steering gear probably is worn on its high point.

Q. The engine of my car starts easily enough but it bucks a lot during the work-up period. I have to keep accelerating it. K. McB.

A. Looks like automatic choke trouble. The choke valve doesn't open soon enough, providing a much too rich mixture.

Q. There is a noise like incorrect mesh between the pinion and ring gears. I get this when the engine is pulling and the car is running straight ahead. There is plenty of the right kind of lube in the rear axle housing. Is this a sure sign of need for readjusting the gears meshing? C. D. R.

A. Not necessarily. There may be a worn pinion shaft bearing. But have a mechanic try a re-meshing first.

Q. There definitely is water leaking into the engine, yet the head and block seem to be perfectly true and a new head gasket hasn't helped at all. S. S. W.

A. A cracked exhaust valve seat would allow water to leak from the head to the respective cylinder. Q. I can't understand why my car performs better on the same hill on different days. The load is the same. I start the climb at the same speed. I always use the same gas. P. J.

A. A difference in air temperature will have a marked effect on hill climbing. Q. I did what I thought was a careful valve job on the engine of my car but results are far from satisfactory. Any ideas? L. D. A.

A. A mechanic would have checked for valve guide wear and worn tappets. I think you will find that such wear is permitting some of the valves to tilt a bit which has the same effect as their not seating tightly.

Q. The automatic shift on my car seems quite erratic. Am I due for a major overhaul? H. V. T.

A. Not necessarily. First readjust the shift control.

ANNE ALPERN ENDORSED FOR HIGH TRIBUNAL

HARRISBURG (AP) — Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alpern, a dark-haired little bundle of energy is the first woman confirmed to be a member of Pennsylvania's Supreme Court.

Her appointment to the state's highest tribunal was given by the Senate Monday night on a bare constitutional two-thirds majority. The vote was 34-14, with nine Republicans helping the 25-member Democratic bloc reach the required figure.

The tally almost fell one vote shy, but Democratic leaders were able to persuade Sen. John T. Van Sant, R-Lehigh, to cast the clinching vote.

While providing the needed votes to give Miss Alpern an interim appointment, until Jan. 1, 1962, Republicans served notice they were not endorsing her for a full 21-year term in the $30,000-a-year post.

TO SEEK ELECTION
Miss Alpern, 57-year-old veteran lawyer and civil servant, has been endorsed by the Democratic State Committee to seek election for a full term at the November election. Republicans have not yet named their candidate. They will make their choice here Saturday.

At stake is a vacancy created by the retirement of Chief Justice Charles Alvin Jones, a Democrat.

Before the roll was called several Republicans challenged Miss Alpern's "judicial temperament."

Sen. Albert R. Pechan, R-Armstrong, and Thomas Ehrgood, R-Lebanon, said they were not convinced she was fitted for the post.

Pechan said he was concerned because of what he called Miss Alpern's alleged refusal to make any prosecutions in reported election irregularities in Philadelphia.

SEX NOT ISSUE
Miss Alpern's sex was not an issue in the debate.

Nor has it ever been in her long career as a civil servant. She was the Pittsburgh city solicitor for many years, followed by a term on the Allegheny County Common Pleas Court bench. She came to Harrisburg in 1959 as Pennsylvania's first woman attorney general.

"I feel that I was never discriminated against because I was a woman," she said. "As I see it, there is no such thing as a feminine or a masculine mind."

"The law is the law no matter who reads it. But the figure of justice is always represented as that of a woman. We want to tear away the blindfold."

ASKS CHANGE OF TRIAL SITE

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The first of the "Freedom Riders" to appear before a Mississippi jury went into county court today with a plea for a change of trial site on breach of peace charges.

Henry Thomas, 19, a Negro student from Howard College in Washington, D.C., was the first of 190 riders to go before a jury. Trial dates for the others extend into January.

Thomas, whose home is in St. Augustine, Fla., drew a conviction May 25 after he had refused to heed a Jackson police officer's order to move out of the white section of the Trailways bus terminal.

Municipal Judge James L. Spencer gave Thomas a $200 fine and a 60-day suspended sentence. Thomas posted a $500 appeal bond July 5 after serving more than half his fine at $3 per day.

Hinds County Judge Russel Moore said the case would be heard just as any other misdemeanor charge. Defense attorneys said they plan to exhaust all legal means in Thomas' defense so he will have a full record for appeal—to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

AP Reporter Declares That Germany Won't Be United In The Foreseeable Future

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — If you read the fine print in Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's pep talk to the West Berliners, you'll notice the distinction being made between dream and reality, but not as bluntly as stated here.

It's the kind of distinction which might make peaceful settlement of the Berlin rumpus a little more possible.

The dream is that the Communist government of East Germany doesn't exist and that divided Germany can be reunited. The reality is that it does exist and that Germany won't be reunited any time soon.

WANTED MORE ACTION
When Communists sealed off East Berlin with barbed wire to stop the flood of East German refugees to West Berlin last week, depressed West Berliners complained because the Allies did nothing more than protest.

There could hardly have been direct intervention without war with the Soviet Union.

So President Kennedy sent Johnson over to boost morale and promise American support in protecting West Berlin—but not East Berlin—from communism.

Johnson delivered the message. But, while saying nothing at all about active support for the East Germans, he did say this: "In the short run, the barbed wire is there and it will not go away by a wave of the hand. But in the long run this unwise effort will fail."

ALLIES WON'T INTERFERE
"Lift your eyes from these barriers and ask yourselves: Who can really believe that history will deny Germany and Berlin their natural unity?"

In other words: The Allies will not interfere in what happens in East Germany, and any unification of the two Germanys must remain a long hope only.

What history does make clear is that the allies do not consider East Germany or East Berlin a problem to fight over. Their hands-off performance now is only a repetition of 1953.

That year anti-Communist Germans revolted, the Russians smashed them with tanks, and the allies did nothing.

NEEDLE PREMIER
To the allies, their real problem is to keep the Communists from closing off West Berlin, whose 2 1/4 million people, 110 miles inside Communist East Germany, give their allegiance to the West.

The Allies have refused to recognize the East German Communists—Soviet puppets but hardly more so than the other satellite governments—as the legitimate rulers of East Germany.

To do so would be to agree to the permanent division of Germany, which is the last thing West German Chancellor Adenauer wants. So the West has kept needing Premier Khrushchev to permit unification, knowing it's the last thing he wants.

It makes good propaganda, but it solves nothing. And there is some irony in it.

The Allies, because of agreements with Moscow, claim the right to keep troops in West Berlin. All allied military supplies and personnel for that city must pass through or over East Germany. These supply routes are controlled by the Russians.

But this amounts to only about five per cent of all traffic in supplies and people moving to West Berlin.

SCRIBE FINDS MANY ITEMS IN HIS MAIL BAG

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

President Kennedy has restored the old-fashioned rocking chair to social favor, but the business world owes a greater debt to President Thomas Jefferson. He invented the swivel chair.

You are more likely to see a pink elephant than a purple cow. The only four-legged purple animal on earth is the blesbok, a small South African antelope.

Sailors used to be little more than seagoing bums, but today ordinary seamen on U.S. merchant ships get a minimum of $280 a month, a four-week vacation, free board and bed, medical care and pensions.

Americans will do anything to said Sunday night the other 95 per cent is civilian traffic which the East German government lets through by agreement with the West German government.

So, while the West does not officially recognize the East German as legitimate, it does in effect recognize them and is dealing with them every day.

RED THREAT
Now Khrushchev wants the West to give official recognition. But he says whether or not the West does, he will turn control of all traffic to West Berlin over to the East Germans before the year ends. So the West, for Adenauer's sake, may still try to refuse official recognition while settling for guarantees that the routes to Berlin will not be shut off.

Rusk said Sunday night — subordinating all other reasons for defending Berlin to this single one — that the real issue on Berlin is a showdown with the Soviet Union, meaning, of course, can the Russians cut off the city?

But the West—after its standoff attitude on East Berlin and East Germany in 1953 and again now and in view of Johnson's statement — can hardly any longer make much of an issue on unification.

"Time Of My Life" 'A Summons From The Boss ...'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Things do not always turn out as badly as our fears would make them seem. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover learned this nearly 40 years ago. He tells how in the second of six articles on "The Time of My Life."

By J. EDGAR HOOVER

(For The Associated Press)

Looking back over the years, several personal experiences stand out in my mind — nearly all of them keyed in one way or another to the six Presidents and thirteen attorneys general under whom I have been honored to serve as director of the FBI.

Without question, the most outstanding of these — an occasion which always will remain vivid in my mind — was that moment on May 10, 1924, when the Honorable Harlan Fiske Stone, then attorney general and later Chief Justice of the United States, summoned me to his office.

At the time, I was assistant director of the Bureau of Investigation, the name by which the FBI then was known. Harlan Stone had been appointed attorney general the preceding month, with orders from President Coolidge to reorganize the Justice Department and restore public confidence in this vital facet of our government.

"CLEANED HOUSE"
It did not take the new attorney general long to begin cleaning house. On May 9—the day preceding my summons to his office—he had requested the resignation of the bureau's previous director. Throughout my seven years' service in the Justice Department, I had consistently done my best. My conscience was clear. I had nothing to hide. Nonetheless, was I to be next?

For the next several moments, Attorney General Stone peered at me over heavy-rimmed glasses. The silence was unnerving. Then he said, "You're 29 years old."

Some people think that's too young. I disagree. Young man, I want you to take charge of the Bureau of Investigation.

These words broke the false tension which, needless, I had found mounting inside. The attorney general did not want my resignation. To the contrary, he was naming me the bureau's director—offering the challenge and the opportunity which were to mold my entire future life.

That so often is the case in our lives. We become nervous and apprehensive in the face of events which ultimately prove to be memorable, pleasant occasions.

Harlan Stone was a big man—over six feet tall and more than 200 pounds. Upon entering his office, I found him seated behind his desk, a pensive, half-scowl expression on his face as he pondered the mountain of papers before him.

As I walked toward him, the attorney general rose from his chair and extended a firm hand for me to shake. "Sit down over here," he said. "There's something I want to discuss with you."

Rockefeller Says Gotham School Board Needs Change

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller called upon a special session of the New York Legislature today to declare a state of emergency in the scandal-ridden school system of New York City.

The Republican-controlled legislature was ready to approve the GOP governor's recommendations for a series of sweeping reforms. Minority Democrats balked at some details.

The New York City administration is Democratic-controlled.

Rockefeller, in a message prepared for the special session, told the lawmakers: "The crisis in New York City's public schools stems from the reluctance of city leadership to assume its responsibilities, and take decisive action."

HAVE MILLION PUPILS

The New York City school system, which includes a million pupils, 40,000 teachers, 800 schools and an annual operating budget of $650 million, has been beset by charges of graft and corruption in building programs, hazardous conditions in present schools and inefficient administration.

Rockefeller asked the legislature to:

1. Proclaim a state of emergency in the giant school system throughout the next school year.

2. Authorize Mayor Robert F. Wagner to appoint a new, nine-member school board from a select list of 18 nominees to be submitted by a panel of educators and other community leaders.

ASK PERIODIC REPORT

3. Require the new board to make periodic reports of what it does to eliminate corruption and otherwise improve conditions in the system.

Wagner has agreed to accept the legislation proposed by the State Education Department.

Head-On Collision Kills Altoona Man

TYRONE, Pa. (AP)—A head-on collision between a car and a moving van on Route 220 near this Blair County town Monday killed Ronald Schultz, 24, of Altoona, and injured two other persons.

Melinda Clark, 25, of Altoona, the driver of the car, was admitted to Tyrone Hospital with a skull fracture and lacerations. A passenger, Joseph Serafin, 40, also of Altoona, suffered a concussion and lacerations. Schultz was riding in the car.

Merle Stairs, 54, of Williamsport, the van driver, was not hurt. Police said the vehicles collided on a curve.

CRUSHED TO DEATH

INDIANA, Pa. (AP)—Henry J. Ruffner, 36, of Lucerne Mines, Indiana County, was crushed to death Monday when the coal mine locomotive he was operating jumped a track at the nearby Lucerne Works of Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal Co.

agreed there was a need for a new school board, argued that it should not be appointed until the mayor chosen at the Nov. 7 election takes office. They also held the board should be salaried.

Practically all Democrats in the legislature are from New York City. Most of those minority members are supporting State Comptroller Arthur Levitt against Wagner in a primary fight for the Democratic nomination for mayor.

Wagner, involved in a rugged battle for re-election, has broken with the regular, Democratic city organization, which is supporting Levitt in the party primary Sept. 7.

Rockefeller is backing State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, Republican in the mayoral fight.

Cool City Cat Has Time Of Her Life In Country

By HAL BOYLE

SPARTA, N. J. (AP) — What does a city cat do when she goes to the country?

Well, for one thing, she gives you the time of your life — just watching her have the time of her life.

For three years Lady Dottie has been a real cool big city cat, as aloof and sophisticated as the pampered ladies who dwell on Park Avenue. She has led almost as sheltered an existence as they.

CHEERFUL PRISONER

For three years she has looked out at life from the windows of our eighth-floor Manhattan apartment, gravely watching the rains pelt against the panes, the snowflakes swirl outside like tiny white ghosts, the soaring gulls crying faintly afar, the rusty freighters of the world plow up and down the East River.

For three years Lady Dottie has been more or less an apartment house prisoner, but a cheerful one.

Then we took her for a week's vacation to a 150-year-old farmhouse here in the friendly New Jersey countryside, and it was as if she had been born a second time in another universe.

EVERYTHING STRANGE

Everything was strange and new to Lady Dottie. At first she was lonesome and afraid in a world she never made.

Everything startled her. She stepped out on the lawn under the wide-armed century-old maple trees as gingerly as if she were walking on heated glass. Each time a car roared by on the highway, screened by a green fence of sweet cedars, she flattened and her ears twitched.

A horse bearing a little girl in a big-brimmed cowboy hat came galloping down a side road. Lady Dottie had never seen a horse before in her life. She flattened, her ears went down and she began to back crawl like a crab. An apple plopped to the ground from a tree behind her. She leaped three feet into the air, then streaked for home like Willie Mays on a base steal.

Then she became aware of the grass. Cats love an occasional taste of green things. That first day Lady Dottie nibbled so much grass—she was too nervous to eat her food—she became sick at the stomach twice.

But each day she has become more venturesome and self-confident. Her veneer of sophistication has vanished. She spends the long summer hours chasing chipmunks and prowling the wood-piles and barns looking for field mice. She has developed an inordinate appetite for milk.

"She must be catching and eating those mice," said my wife. "How do you know?" I asked. "Cats always drink more milk when they make a menu of a mouse," replied Frances, who comes from a small town in Missouri. "Everybody knows that."

CLIPPED HER CLAWS

Well, I didn't know it, and I'm still not sure it's so. Wives are always making a big sweeping statement like that, and then try to convince their husbands it's gospel truth.

Three bluejeans in a sideyard cedar tree are Lady Dottie's chief enemies. Every time they see her black and white body slipping sinuously near, they alert every other wild thing in the area by screaming at her.

Lady Dottie doesn't like being given "the bird" by a trio of hick jays. She would swarm right up the tree after them except for one thing. We clipped her claws in advance, so she wouldn't harm any feathered thing.

EVER HAPPY AGAIN?

But she has proved her valor in a better way. Twice dogs have wandered into the yard. Lady Dottie's back never arched in panic. Her yellow eyes widened and glared like two angry egg yolks, and she crouched ready to attack. Each time it was the dog who turned and left.

No high wanderer. Lady Dottie comes indoors willingly at bedtime. Only burns sleep outdoors, she sleeps at the feet of my wife, purring so loudly it sounds like distant thunder.

This happy week of enchanted freedom will soon be over for Lady Dottie. Will she ever be as content again in a big-city apartment?

When she gazes out the windows with her great inscrutable eyes, what will she really see — the cozy comfort there, or the life of liberty she has known in the country here?

Must Return Stolen Money By August 31

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service has until Aug. 31 to examine money that was recovered following the burglary of an Ellwood City man's safe.

The $140,727 must then be returned to Cosmo S. Geniviva, from whose safe it was taken last April.

This was the ruling of Judge Herbert P. Sorg in U. S. District Court here Monday.

The money has been held by Lawrence County authorities since its recovery last May. Internal Revenue agents had sent the county authorities a summons, requesting that the money be kept until agents could examine it.

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

GOOD FASHION FISHING. If you would land a prize fashion when you choose a Fall day-time dress, use these "buylines":

The favored fabrics are marked by movement. There's nothing stiff or static about them. Top selections include fluid, textured crepes; supple, lightweight wools; cottons with a handwoven look. Disguised as tweed, jacquard and ottoman, knits are slated for still increased popularity.

As for color, the bright shades continue strong. But they are clearer, richer and more elegant than in the Spring. Among neutrals, the contenders are lively browns, smokey gray and pale greige.

The word for the silhouette is "fit-and-flare." To interpret that means bloused bodices, belted at the waist or hipped, and posed over a gently gathered skirt. Very easy it is to wear, too!

Another concept is a long bodice, demi-fitted at the waist and banded at mid-hip. The skirt flows from the band in a triangle flare. The look is terrific, when a wearer's proportions answer to the same description!

A few dresses flare from a high, princess waistline. This is a trend that began in the couture, and it is sure to grow.

But whatever your choice, do make certain that it fits as the designer intended. And do beware the extravagant flare. A little is fashion-y, a lot could be overpowering.

13 KILLED ON STATE ROADS; DEATH TOLL 22

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A man and his wife were asphyxiated in a hunting cabin and a 14-year-old boy fatally shot himself after hunting woodchucks, bringing the weekend death toll in Pennsylvania to 22.

Thirteen of the 22 were killed on the highways in the period from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday.

Maurice W. Peters, 48, and his wife, Margaret, 40, of New Cumberland, were found dead Saturday morning by Peters' brother, Lawrence, apparently asphyxiated by gas from a refrigerator in their hunting cabin near Galeton.

Lawrence Peters, of Wormleysburg, also spent Friday night in the cabin, but opened the windows before he retired. Dr. Harry Williams, Tioga County coroner, said the couple probably was dead before Lawrence Peters opened the windows.

"We changed from electric to GAS heat. Now we pay only one-third as much... and we heat our entire basement, too."

Says Mr. R. E. Davidson, 126 Pleasantview Street, Beaver Falls, Pa.

After heating their new home with electric resistance heat for one year, the Davidsons converted to GAS heat. (The Davidson home is fully insulated and has storm doors and windows as required for electric resistance heat installations.) Now they pay one dollar for every three they spent while they heated with electricity. For instance, the cost of electric heating of the first floor area only was $400.51. After they converted to GAS heat, their total cost for keeping the entire house at a comfortable temperature was $136.11.

"NOW I CAN USE MY BASEMENT ALL WINTER LONG," says Mrs. Davidson. Because of the excessive cost of electric heating, it is impractical to heat the basement. But with economical GAS, every part of the house is kept at a comfortable temperature—even the garage! Think what this means. Double the space for recreation and household chores. In the Davidson's home, the basement area equals the first floor area—1,092 square feet for each level. So GAS heating doubled the living area in winter—at 1/3 the cost!

COMPARE THE COST of actual electric and gas bills paid by the Davidsons. Below is a table showing electric heating costs for the 1959-1960 winter, and GAS heating costs for the 1960-1961 winter. Remember, the 1960-1961 winter was particularly severe. Even so, GAS bills were so much lower.

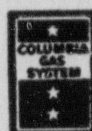

... the Davidsons saved

$264.40 in heating costs in one winter... with GAS!

DOGS ALL OVER U. S. REPORTING STRANGE DIETS

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Remember the story about the dog who dines on delicacies like old shoes, rope, ballpoint pens and teapot spouts?

Well, he's not alone. Owners of other canines with crazy tastes report: a dog in Kansas City ate his bowl. One in Fern Park, Fla., eats furniture. One in Tacoma, Wash., ate a baseball glove and a small grove of saplings.

This intelligence has been duly reported in the column of Malcolm Epley of the Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram, who started the story to begin with.

MAIL ROLLS IN

He wrote a column about the unlikely items eaten by his dog, Sycan, a Siberian husky-type animal known as a Samoyed. The Associated Press picked it up and the tale was retold all over the country. Result: mail from dog owners everywhere.

Epley wrote in a follow-up: "All over the U.S.A. dogs are eating things dogs aren't supposed to eat."

NOTE OF PROTEST

"Dr. Carl McIntosh, Long Beach State College president, sent a note of protest."

"Our dog, who reads your column regularly, remembered his youth with such nostalgia that he promptly chewed up my wife's glasses. I think newspaper columnists should use their influence constructively. It is a sort of a public trust."

Epley concluded: "It was nice of the pres. to send along the partially chewed up spectacles. I'll take them home for Sycan's evening meal."

Denies Catholics Oppose School Aid

NEW YORK (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman says there was no truth in a charge by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., that top-ranking Catholic clergy are opposed to improving public schools. The cardinal, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, said Morse made the statement in a speech Aug. 14.

In a reply Monday, Cardinal Spellman said: "We do not, as he alleges, look upon them (public schools) as 'competitors,' but as partners in the great work of educating America's children. We recognize their essential place in American life."

"But we are also deeply concerned for the protection of our Catholic schools. We do not believe that the best interests of this nation can best be served by making public school education a monopoly."

The cardinal said public school education would eventually become a monopoly under the Kennedy administration proposal, backed by Morse, to aid only public schools with federal funds.

PARIS (AP) — Abbe Henri Breuil, member of the French Institute and a noted paleontologist, died Monday. He was 84.

The priest-historian taught successively at the Universities of Fribourg in Switzerland, at the Paleontological Institute of the College de France, and at the Universities of Lisbon and Johannesburg.

He became famous for his discoveries of many cave paintings and sculptures by prehistoric man in France, Spain, Ethiopia, South Africa and Ireland.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Mose M. Feld, 61, a one-time newsboy who became a millionaire industrialist, philanthropist and civic worker, died Monday of a heart attack. Feld was chairman of the board of the Lone Star Bag Co., a division of the St. Regis Paper Co. of New York.

BREAK OFF AIR ROUTE TALKS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, "in view of the international situation," has broken off plans for signing a commercial air agreement which had been worked out with the Soviet Union.

The surprise move was announced by the State Department Monday night after a month of quiet talks on the long-proposed air route joining New York and Moscow.

The State Department said "in view of the international situation, for which the U.S. government is not responsible, this government has decided that this is not an appropriate time to sign a civil air transport agreement."

REACTION IS MILD

State Department press officer Lincoln White said that if the international situation changes "that would be a different kettle of fish."

Soviet reaction—so far—has been mild.

Likewise put into the freezer was a side agreement that had been worked out by the two airlines which were supposed to fly the New York-Moscow run, Pan American Airways for the United States and Aeroflot, the Soviet

To make a delicious sauce for roast lamb, combine equal parts of water and distilled white vinegar; heat. Add sugar and chopped mint leaves to taste and allow to stand about half an hour so the mint flavor will develop.
